

CHAPTER XIV

TRANSITORY PROVISIONS

Article 46:

Banks which have granted contributions, benefits, allowances and salaries higher than the ones provided for in this Agreement, shall be obliged to retain them as they constitute an acquired right to the employees of the bank.

Article 47:

If there are at some banks employees whose salaries exceed either the grade they actually occupy within the cadre of the bank or the duty which they actually discharge, such employees shall retain their salary and grade of duty at the date of putting this Agreement into force.
